

Re-TRAC – A Free, Online Tool Saves WasteWise Partners Time and Money

As a new benefit to its program partners, an online solid waste and materials management tool that makes storing and reporting data a breeze is now being offered by the EPA's WasteWise program. Many governments and institutions have purchased customized versions of the powerful, web-based Re-TRAC™ system in order to track materials management data. However – access is free for WasteWise partners. With Re-TRAC™, WasteWise partners can easily organize, collect, store, analyze, and report results from their materials management efforts. To learn more about Re-TRAC™'s capabilities and the WasteWise program, contact Jennifer Dawani at 913-551-7162 / dawani.jennifer@epa.gov or Bruce Canova 913-551-7888 / canova.bruce@epa.gov.

WasteWise is a voluntary EPA partnership program assisting and recognizing businesses, governments, and organizations that reduce costly waste – benefitting both the environment and their bottom line.
